

FOREIGN TOPICS.

LONDON MURDERER CONFESSES HIS CRIME.

Northern California Resources.

The SACRAMENTO RECORD-UNION recently issued a very creditable edition concerning the climate, resources, etc., of Tehama county. The RECORD-UNION is deated from Stanley—The Irish National League—The Peruvian Cabinet Resigns.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-EXCER.]

CANADA.

Winipeg Railroad Men Boldly Disregard an Injunction.

CHICAGO, August 28.—A special from Winnipeg says: "The Winnipeg Valley road was put on a large force of men yesterday and today, to break through the line demarcated by the Canadian Pacific, in spite of the injunction."

HE GOT THERE.

Russian Astronomer Goes Above the Clouds to Observe the Sun's Eclipse.

St. PETERSBURG, August 20th.—The eclipse of the sun was not observed here yesterday, owing to a clouded condition of the sky. At Khatanga, however, where an aged professor, named Vassilief, resides, a total eclipse was observed.

[illegible]

The Irish National League.

[illegible]

A Murderer Confesses.
LONDON, August 21st.—The murderer Lipski is to be hanged to-morrow; has made a full confession. His story shows that robbery was at the principal motive for the deed.

Singular Result of a Duel.
PARIS, August 21st.—A. Labouchere, a writer

HUNTINGTON'S RETURN.

His Opinion in regard to the Railroad Investigation.

Copyright, 1887, by the California Associated Press.
NEW YORK, August 22d. —[Special.]—The Tribune this morning says: C. P. Huntington returned from Europe by the Auraria last evening. Huntington looked bronzed and rugged, and he said he had been in the mountains of Europe.

investigation into the rumormongers. He smiled, and then, with a shrug, shook his head, he added :
 "I have seen some accounts of the investigation from time to time, but I have not kept up with it, and the papers have not been sent to me with details. I thought the appointment of a committee to investigate would be a good thing."

and trying to cause me to change my opinion. WE HAVE NOTHING TO CONCEAL. As regards the business of the Coal Pacific with the Government, of course there is nothing to be said. The Government has bought the railroad company, and we do not care to be in the position of a contractor in regard to interests which do not concern us, and are of no possible importance to them. I am sure they will extract through the Commission as intelligent enough to prevent such influence, and to force them when an effort is made to force them to pay. We have never used any money for political purposes, and there is no possibility of any circumstance that can fasten such a charge upon us. What has happened

Have you formed any new public projects while on the other side?" was asked.

"No, I gave very little attention to business," said Mr. Huntington. "Time for the trip was made for rest and recreation, and I was able to get the full benefit of it."

Mr. Huntington then conversed briefly in regard to the incidents of his trip, and there was further allusion to railroad matters.

[illegible]

able to himself, under his assumed name, got his younger brother to deposit them to a account. After they had been returned to the Columbia Bank for collection, and after he had been paid in, the books were secured for, and destroyed. The culprits are sons the late Professor Cook, of this city.

Copyright, 1887, by the California Associated Press.
 New York, August 26th.—[Special.]—The demand for wool has again become brisk, and the sales, amounting in all to 2,621,000 pounds, have been reported. The top of the wool is stronger than previously reported. No wool prices are expected, and none are at present. All grades of wool are now being first to experience the shading in price which has been inaugurated, are now quite low in quotations. The wool from the West supply, but are moving off well, and the prices from the West are not so low. The quotations are in excellent condition and meet the demand for more than the supply.

EPPS'S COCOA.
BREAKFAST.
"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of diges-

[illegible]

Scales are now made so delicate that a signature on a piece of paper with a good pencil can be spoiled.

increasing distribution of wealth and the better condition of the working classes, and hence the ability to gratify tastes, the growing love for the artistic; the expansion of the esthetic tastes, without living extremes; the increasing demand for certain classes of products that must be better and more artistically made than is possible to the machine; the augmented sentiment that cheapness is not always economy, and finally, the rapidly growing conviction that it is high art to guide the hand in cunning work controlled by a cultivated intellect. The essayist referred to gives as one of the reasons for his belief in the revival, that there is a demand, which is growing irresistibly, and gradually affecting the whole social circle, for the expression of sensibility and thought in the products of many classes of labor. The demand for things beautiful as well as useful, testifies to a broadening and a bettering of tastes; to cultivated powers of observation; to culture of the sentimental within proper limits, and to a recognition of the thought and intellect the handicraftsman puts into his work and stamps upon it. The effect of the revival, and the signs of which must all have observed them, is that the promise of its stable character, must be felt more immediately by certain trades than by the people generally. It will tend to add new dignity and honor to the vocations of certain skilled workers; it will stimulate them to higher attainments; will increase the demand for thorough workmen and the highest skill, and will probably evolve new products of labor and stimulate designing to an extent not before experienced. That it will diminish the product of the machine, or the need for it, is, of course, not expected or desired. It will simply enlarge fields of highly skilled labor of the hands, and distribute more of aggregated wealth among the workers whose skill and creative genius must be backed by a higher degree of intelligence than is necessary to "run" a machine.

THE WEEKLY UNION

Is the cheapest and most desirable Home, News and Literary Journal published on the Pacific coast.

Terms: One Year, $2.00; Six Months, $1.00; Three Months, $0.50.

Entered at the Post Office at Sacramento, California, as Second-Class Matter, October 10, 1906.

Postage paid at Sacramento, California.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Act of October 3, 1917, authorized on July 1, 1925.

Postmaster: Please send address changes to DAILY RECORD-UNION, P.O. Box 100, Sacramento, Cal.

Copyright, 1937, by Sacramento Publishing Company.

Printed at the Record-Union Press, Sacramento, Cal.

Published by the Sacramento Publishing Company.

Publication Office, Third St., bet. J and K.

THE DAILY RECORD-UNION

Is published every day of the week, Sunday excepted. For advertising rates, see page 2.

For one year, $5.00; for six months, $3.00; for three months, $1.50; for one month, $1.00.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

For advertising rates, see page 2.

CAMP SHEEHAN.

THE IMMUTABILITY OF GOD'S PROMISE CONTINUED BY AN OATH.

Rev. H. C. Christian, Pastor of the Seventh Street M. E. Church South, preached a very interesting sermon last evening.

He took for his text the last verses of the eighth chapter of Paul's epistle to the Hebrews.

For men verily swear by the cross, and an oath for confirmation is to them an end of all.

Wherein God, willing more abundantly to show unto the heirs of promise the immutability of His counsel, confirmed it by an oath.

That by two immutable things, in which His word cannot fail, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us.

Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, and which endureth unto the end of the world.

Whether the foregoing is so entered, even as it is in the original, and as it is in the translation of Melchizedek.

There is said to be only one thing sure, and that is heaven. This is a source of great consolation. We prize the promises of friends; some we never can forget, but at the same time we realize that these promises may fail—the promiser may not be able to keep those promises. If God had sworn by rocks and mountains, they would have crumbled and the promises would have failed.

Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, and which endureth unto the end of the world.

Whether the foregoing is so entered, even as it is in the original, and as it is in the translation of Melchizedek.

There is said to be only one thing sure, and that is heaven. This is a source of great consolation. We prize the promises of friends; some we never can forget, but at the same time we realize that these promises may fail—the promiser may not be able to keep those promises. If God had sworn by rocks and mountains, they would have crumbled and the promises would have failed.

Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, and which endureth unto the end of the world.

Whether the foregoing is so entered, even as it is in the original, and as it is in the translation of Melchizedek.

There is said to be only one thing sure, and that is heaven. This is a source of great consolation. We prize the promises of friends; some we never can forget, but at the same time we realize that these promises may fail—the promiser may not be able to keep those promises. If God had sworn by rocks and mountains, they would have crumbled and the promises would have failed.

Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, and which endureth unto the end of the world.

Whether the foregoing is so entered, even as it is in the original, and as it is in the translation of Melchizedek.</

